ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY

The University of Agriculture, Science and Technology (UAST), Ihugh, established in 2024 by the Benue State Government, is a purpose-driven, research-intensive, innovation-led public university strategically located in Ihugh, Vandeikya Local Government Area of Benue State. UAST is deliberately conceived as a 21st-century African university—one designed from inception to integrate agriculture, science, engineering, health, environment, and digital innovation in addressing Africa's most pressing challenges: food security, public health, climate resilience, industrial development, and sustainable livelihoods.

1. Our institutional mandate is anchored on five interlocking pillars:
2. Excellence in Teaching and Learning
3. Problem-Solving and Impact-Driven Research
4. Technology Transfer and Innovation
5. Community-Engaged Development
6. Ethical Leadership and Global Citizenship

Guided by the founding philosophy of “Imagine. Aspire. Innovate. Create.”, UAST is intentionally building a new polymathic academic culture; one rooted in relevance, interdisciplinarity, digital transformation, sustainability, and measurable societal impact.
